State Forester Tells Of The Need Of Protection Of The Forests.

SHOULD REPLANT ALL THE ACREAGE

This Would Be A Benefit To Future Generations Seeking Timber For Various Uses.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—The first annual report of E. M. Griffith, state forester, has been issued. It is packed with valuable information, and contains an eloquent plea for the preservation of the remaining forests of the state and for the reforestation of the burned over cuttings.

"Only a few years ago," says the report, "Wisconsin was one of the greatest timber states in this country and even the lumbermen and woodsmen, who were directly and personally interested in the supply of timber, could not realize that the pineries which seemed so vast would in a few years be a thing of the past. But thousands of axemen were cutting their way on all sides into the great virgin forests and back of them, fed by their slashings, came the arch enemy fire and completed the devastation, until today, where the great pines once stood, are vast areas of burned over cuttings. These unproductive wastes should be a matter of concern, not alone to the owner and county in which they lie, but to the whole state as well, for forests are crops just as much as wheat or corn, and although they take a long time to mature, still, if managed systematically and conservatively, they will furnish annually a supply of mature timber, and will thus save to the state the many industries which depend upon the forests for their raw material."

He suggests that the state purchase these vast burned over areas and stock them all as soon as possible. If this policy is pursued the state will have an investment that will yield generous returns. He advocates that the lands so bought be lands that are valueless for agricultural purposes, so that the development of northern Wisconsin may not be retarded.

Forest Reserves
Under the provisions of the present forestry law all the state lands north of town 33 constitute the forest reserve. This reserve embraces 254,072 acres. This is encouraging because two years ago there were only 40,000 acres. There are 24,730 acres in Burnett, Douglas and Marinette counties belonging to this reserve which are suitable for agricultural purposes or else are too scattered to be suitable for forest reserves. From the sale of these a fund will be secured which will render possible the purchase of more desirable lands elsewhere.

Mr. Griffith concludes his report with statements and figures showing how the necessary reforestation can be carried out, its value to the corporations and to the individual, and the necessity of having these facts brought to the attention of every citizen of the state, particularly those in the timbered regions.

SUFFRAGISTS VERY MUCH IN EARNEST

Business Sessions Continue—Advocates Will Occupy Several Chicago Pulpits Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Feb. 16.—The sessions of the third day of the national woman suffrage convention today were characterized by the same earnest work and genuine enthusiasm which marked the proceedings of the opening day. The business of the day was abbreviated in order to give the delegates an opportunity to visit Hull House, the University of Chicago, and other places of interest. Tomorrow will be given over to some of the prominent delegates and in addition there will be a big public meeting in the Studebaker Theatre, with addresses by Herbert Bigelow of Cleveland, Miss Jane Adams, Rabbi Emil G. Hirsch, and other persons of note.

It was decided at today's session of the National Woman's Suffragists' association to enter upon a national campaign for the purpose of compelling congress to extend the right to vote to women.

RAW FOOD DINNER FOR HIGH SOCIETY

Six Courses of Uncooked Victuals Will be Spread at Swagger Event in Gotham.

New York, Feb. 16.—Unique dinners and entertainment have been so common in New York society that they are no longer considered a novelty. But Mr. and Mrs. Frederic S. Goodwin of Central Park West have arranged a function for tonight that has challenged more than the vitriolous style of a twentieth century banquet of uncooked foods. Covers will be laid for sixty guests, who will "enjoy" a feast of half a dozen courses in which every article of food and drink will be served in a raw state.

THERE IS ONE RUSSIAN NOBLEMAN WHO IS HAPPY

He Has Been Stripped Of His Rank And Marked For Death by Revolutionists, But He Is A Father.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Berlin, Feb. 16.—Stripped of rank, titles and honors by his cousin, the Czar, and marked for death by the Russian revolutionaries, there is no happier or more contented a man in all Europe today than the Grand Duke Cyril Vladimirovich of Russia. Living a secluded but contented life at Coburg, happy in the love of the woman he married in defiance of the wishes of his imperial relatives, the Grand Duke has this week had his cup of bliss filled to overflowing by the birth of a daughter.

It will be remembered that the marriage a year ago of the Grand Duke Cyril to the divorced wife of the Grand Duke of Hesse terminated a love match of many years' duration. The two were boy and girl lovers at a period when both of them were in their teens. There were unfortunately political objections to their marriage and the Princess Victoria of Saxe-Coburg, as she then was, became the wife of Grand Duke Ernest Louis of Hesse. The marriage turned out extremely unhappy and ended in divorce. As soon as the divorce had been announced Grand Duke Cyril immediately appeared at Coburg and renewed his ardent declarations of love.

The Grand Duchess hesitated to marry again because this step would have made it impossible for her, under the terms of her divorce, ever to see her only child, the little Princess Elizabeth, to whom she was passionately attached. Princess Elizabeth, however, who lived with her father, was poisoned while visiting the Emperor and Empress of Russia.

Her tragic death removed the scruples of the Grand Duchess regarding remarriage, and she consented to become Cyril's wife. The Czar prohibited the marriage for various reasons, but Grand Duke Cyril ignored the wishes of his imperial relative and he and the Grand Duchess were married at Munich. The Czar retaliated by expelling him from the Russian army and navy and by ordering him never again to appear at a Russian court. The couple paid little attention to the Czar's displeasure; and ever since their marriage have been living a happy retired life at the royal palace in Coburg.

SPEAKER EKERN FEELS IT IS HIS DUTY TO FUTURE

Would So Tie Up The Merit System That There Would Be No Chance To Alter It By Coming Legislature.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—Speaker Ekern evidently does not want to trust the maintenance of the merit system of state service appointments to future legislatures. For fear that the civil service law may in the future be tampered with or made less efficient or perhaps repealed even, should some future legislature feel unkindly disposed toward the law, Speaker Ekern has introduced a bill which provides for a constitutional amendment incorporating into the state constitution a section which makes appointment and promotion in the civil service dependent upon merit and fitness, to be ascertained by competitive examination. Of course the law stands little chance of being seriously hampered or tampered with at the present session, but it is possible that in the future some legislature may get the idea that they would like to do away with it altogether. While this provision in the state constitution will not hinder trifling changes it will make it a difficult matter to knock out the civil service law altogether, since, if the bill passes and is ratified by the people, it will take the same tedious process to repeal it.

The section reads as follows: "Resolved, by the assembly, the senate concurring, that article VIII of this constitution of the state of Wisconsin be amended by adding a new section to read Section 11—Subject to such reasonable exemptions as may be provided by statute or authorized by a commission created by statute, appointment and promotion in the civil service of the state shall be made according to merit and fitness, to be ascertained so far as practicable, by examination, which, so far as practicable, shall be competitive."

DEFECTS OF THE PURE FOOD LAW

POINTED OUT BY PROFESSOR
KREMERS OF STATE UNIVERSITY.

IMPROVEMENTS POSSIBLE

Many Weaknesses Were Shown to Exist in Both National and State Statutes.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—"Pure food and drug legislation," was the subject of an address by Professor Edward Kremers of the University of Wisconsin delivered before the Science Club Thursday night. The speaker pointed out the weaknesses and defects in existing pure food and drug laws as enacted by state legislatures and by congress. The principles to be considered by state legislatures in framing laws regulating the manufacture and sale of food and drugs were also presented by Professor Kremers.

"A year ago the statement was repeatedly made that congress would not dare to withhold a pure food and drug law any longer," said Dr. Kremers in opening. "The sentiment reflected by this statement was no doubt general. No one familiar in the least with the conditions existing at that time could be surprised that the people at large were dissatisfied with state control, and looked to national government for something better. Fifty out of the fifty-one states and territories, a year ago, had more or less complete general food laws—honestly intended, we are informed, except in a few cases—to control and prevent the adulteration of human foodstuffs. In only twenty-five states and territories a general effort was being made to enforce these laws with results, however very far from being satisfactory."

"Such is the statement made by one who has been state chemist in one state, and who has acted in the capacity of food inspection expert in another state.

"No one can for a moment regard the national pure food law—though the result of popular demand, but also the compromise product of clashing interests—as perfect; or even as the best attainable from a purely practical point of view. Indeed, few of those who have been clamoring for pure food and drug legislation have given any serious thought as to what such legislation can be expected to accomplish, and how it may be made to attain its ends. Laws of this nature should, above all, make two demands: First, that foodstuffs and drugs be pure, and that the former be harmless when rationally used. Second, that they be true to the label and that the label be true to them. If in addition, such a law provides ways and means for its proper, impartial, and

Charcoal Stops Gas On Your Stomach

Wonderful Absorbing Power of Charcoal When Taken in the Form of Stuart's Charcoal
Lozenges.

Trials Package Sent Free.

Charcoal, pure, simple charcoal, absorbs 100 times its own volume of gas. Where does the gas go to? It is just absorbed by the charcoal—the gas disappears and there is left a pure, fresh, sweet atmosphere, free from all impurities and germs.

That's what happens in your stomach when you take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful purifiers science has yet discovered.

You belch gas in company, sometimes, by accident, greatly to your own humiliation. That is because there is a great amount of gas being formed in your stomach by fermenting food. Your stomach is not digesting your food properly. Gas is inevitable. Whenever this happens, just take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges right after eating. They will take care of it. No more belchings; no more sour risings. Eat all you want and what you want, and then if there is any gas going to be formed, one of these wonderful little absorbers, a Stuart Charcoal Lozenge, will take care of all the gas.

And it will do more than that. Every particle of impurity in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away by the charcoal. No one seems to know why it does this, but it does, and does it wonderfully. You notice the difference in your appetite, general good feeling, and in the purity of your blood right away.

You'll have no more bad taste in your mouth or bad breath, either from drinking, eating or smoking. Other people will notice your bad breath quicker than you will yourself. Make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, so when you talk to others you won't disgust them. Just one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges will make your breath sweet, and make you feel better all over for it. You can eat all the onions and odorous foods you want, and no one can tell the difference.

Besides, charcoal is the best laxative known. You can take a whole boxful and no harm will result. It is a wonderfully easy regulator.

And then, too, it filters your blood, every particle of poison or impurity in your blood is destroyed, and you begin to notice the difference in your face first thing, your clear complexion.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made from pure willow charcoal, and just a little honey is put in to make them palatable, but not to make them sticky. They will work wonders in your stomach, and make you feel fine and fresh. Your blood and breath will be purified.

We want to prove all this to you, so just send for a free sample today. Then after you get it and use it, you will like them so well that you will go to your druggist and get a 25c box of these Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 54 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

just enforcement by a commission or equally equitable agency, little more, it seems to me, can be expected of it.

"The first requirement is that such a law, while rigid in its demands for purity of both food and drugs, and harmless in the case of the former, should be framed along general scientific principles and must be flexible so as to admit of a healthy growth. It is claimed that the present law is framed along these lines, and in no small measure is this true. It has also been stated that the law is the compromise product of clashing interests. Let us see, therefore, how some of the compromises affect the general tenor of the law.

Fails to Define Adulteration.

"In attempting to define adulteration, the law makers evidently found themselves in a quandary. While the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary are adopted as standard for drugs sold under or by a name recognized in these standards, such a demand evidently was regarded as too sweeping. Therefore a proviso was added which, as Professor Beal has aptly said, 'seems to be a loophole large enough to permit the passage of any of the traditional coach and six, but of a whole procession of such vehicles.'

Insult to Medical Profession.

"The section on the subject of labeling contains a clause that is an insult to the medical and pharmaceutical professions. According to it every bottle of medicine put up in accordance with the physician's prescription must contain a statement on the label as to its contents of alcohol, morphine, opium, cocaine, etc. It is well understood that the drug part of this act was being pushed by those who regarded the secret nostrum industry not only as quackery but also as an outrage to common decency. Whether this clause regarding prescriptions was introduced in its present form as a retaliatory slap to legitimate medicine, or whether it was introduced with a hope that it might kill the entire bill, we do not know. We are informed, however, that an amendment, the special purport of which was to exempt physicians' prescriptions from this clause, was lost in the house of representatives.

"According to this clause the pharmaceutical manufacturer must make an alcohol assay of every batch of tincture and fluid extract made in accordance with the United States Pharmacopoeia, the very guide adopted by congress as standard, and print the alcohol content on the label whereas manufacturers of whiskey, bitters, and other alcoholic beverages, are not burdened in like manner. Another unfortunate feature of the clause in question is this, that after having started to specify certain compounds by naming them, it winds up by making the entire clause not only sweeping but exceedingly vague by adding the phrase, 'or any derivative of any such substance.'

Demand Rational Laws.

"Let us demand rational laws," said Professor Kremers in conclusion. "What is to be gained by demanding an educational standard of our physicians, and then treating them as though they were less competent than those members of the secret nostrum fraternity whose only professional stock is the money with which they can purchase newspaper space for deceitful and oftentimes vulgar advertisements.

"Let us be rational. Let us not expect to have pure food on our tables simply because a pure food law has been enacted. Let us not expect a commissioner and a chemist to enforce a law all over a large state without abundant assistance, and let us remember that an imperfect enforcement is as likely to drive the honest man out of business as the dishonest man. Let us not even confide blindly in the government official because in his opinion certain substances are put down as harmful, and other substances, intended to deceive, are permitted by him. Do not think that the millennium of pure food is approaching because an important food inspector, in order to save his neck, has wanted only destroyed tons upon tons of valuable food material, though such food was no longer fit for human use. Instead of permitting the advertisers and others to do your thinking for you, try to do a little of it for yourself. If you do, we shall, no doubt, not only have better food and drug laws in the future, but what is much more important, pure food and drugs."

JANESVILLE MAY BE ON THE WAY TO MILWAUKEE

EXTENSION OF ILLINOIS, IOWA &
MINNESOTA R. R. TALKED OF.

FIFTY THOUSAND AT LEAST

Will Be Asked as a Bonus if the Road
Taps Janesville on Its Way to the Cream City.

There is a possibility that Janesville may be on the proposed route of the Illinois, Iowa & Minnesota Railway which will extend its lines from Rockford to Milwaukee, this coming summer. The question of Janesville and Beloit being included in the Wisconsin territory to be passed through is not yet decided, but it is known that several of the high officials of the road are much in favor of putting Janesville on the new line. In fact, steps have already been taken to bring the matter up for serious consideration before the company's board of directors.

Would Need Bonus

It has been learned that if the road comes to Janesville it would have to go some twenty miles out of its present planned route. This would mean that the road would have between thirty-six and forty thousand dollars a year freight to make it pay. It has been suggested that the city of Janesville give the road a bonus as an inducement to come by way of Janesville and it is estimated that fifty thousand dollars would be needed to properly impress the officials of the great benefit they would derive by coming this way instead of cutting straight across to Milwaukee.

Could Be Voted

Such a bonus could be voted by the citizens in general or raised by public subscription. It matters take definite form it is probable some such a step will be taken. Prominent Janesville people have had several conferences with the road's officials relative to the matter and it is known it is being considered. A Rockford dispatch says that the matter has already been decided upon but this is known to be wrong.

President's Letter

The following is an excerpt from the letter of the President of the road to a prominent Janesville business man: "We are putting our new incorporation in shape and within a few weeks the project will be fully launched; until that time we will not take up any questions regarding Beloit or Janesville, in fact until we have time to make our surveys and determine for ourselves what we desire. There seems to be a disposition on a part of some of our people to make a short cut from Rockford to Milwaukee. Personally I am very much in favor of going by way of Janesville and Beloit. This letter was dated February 8th.

Part in Operation

The line is now in operation from Moline, Illinois, to Rockford and Chicago, being connected by the belt line with Gary, Indiana, the great steel town. It is now proposed to extend the line to Milwaukee along the same lines as the Milwaukee & Southern road from Rockford and the question of coming by way of Janesville is still only being considered and not settled by any means.

Would Mean Much

The entrance of this road into Janesville would mean much for the city. It would increase the business and importance of the present industries and would be a boon to the citizens in general. As soon as the road makes definite plans relative to the probable route steps will be taken to raise a bonus to induce the road to come this way.

BIG CELEBRATION OF UNIVERSITY DAY

Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M.
Shaw to Deliver Principal Address at State University.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—Washington's birthday will be celebrated at the University of Wisconsin as University Day with a general convocation of the students in the morning and a banquet at night. The Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, will address the convocation in the armory. Members of the legislature, alumni, and citizens of the state have been invited to attend the convocation and banquet, and owing to the interest in the speakers of the day, a large attendance from out of town is anticipated. A musical program will be rendered by the university orchestra under the direction of Herman E. Owen. This is the second University Day celebration, the first having been held last year, with Archbishop S. C. Messmer of Milwaukee as the speaker.

The first annual University Day banquet will be given in the armory hall in the evening. Covers will be laid for 1,000 persons, including students, faculty, alumni, and guests. J. Earl Baker of the department of public speaking will act as toastmaster, and responses will be made by Hon. Leslie M. Shaw; Regent W. D. Hoard, Fort Atkinson; Hon. John L. O'Connor, St. Milwaukee; District Attorney Joseph E. Davies; 93, Watertown; Professor J. R. A. Pye, 92, of the department of English; and President Charles R. Van Hise, 79. The program will include the singing of college songs under the direction of Professor Julius E. Olson, and musical selections by the university regimental band. After the banquet the hall will be cleared for dancing, and the gymnasium will be open to the guests for inspection. It is planned to make this monster banquet an annual feature of the University Day exercises, with view to bringing together students, alumni, and friends of the university as it is possible to do only at this time of the year.

BEEFSTEAK CLUB'S FOURTH SESSION

At the Hotel Myers Last Evening
Proved to Be One of the Most Enjoyable of the Series.

At the Hotel Myers last evening the Beefsteak Club enjoyed its fourth dinner and social session. The report was served in faultless style and afterwards William G. Wheeler presided over one of the most interesting and enjoyable programs of the year. Sleight of hand feats by George McKee, the reading of an original poem entitled "A Close Finish" by Judge Henry Smith, formerly of Janesville and now located at Helena, Montana; stunts and anecdotes by F. C. Cook, A. P. Burnham, Geo. S. Parker, T. S. Nolan, M. R. Osburn, Frank H. Jackson, W. W. Watt, P. J. Mount, Mr. Parks of Minneapolis, and others were features. W. H. Gannan was elected leader of the next meeting.

George C. Perkins.

Hon. George Clement Perkins, senator from California, was born at Kennebunkport, Me., on August 25, 1830. He was an adventurous lad, and, tiring of life on a New England farm, he ran away to sea when only 12 years of age. He followed the sea for many years, and finally, in 1855, he shipped aboard a sailing vessel bound for San Francisco. He left his ship at that port and settled at Oroville, Calif. Here he went into business and founded a bank and steamship lines. Mr. Perkins was elected a state senator in 1868, and held the position until 1870. The post of governor of California was won by him in 1879, and his term ended in 1883. He was steadily growing in wealth and influence and was elected a United States senator on July 21, 1893. Senator Perkins has a beautiful home in Oakland, Calif.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, February 16, 1867.—On a Frolic.—Old Borens has been on a regular "tear" since last night, cutting up fantastic capers with everything which would respond to his touch. We hear of no damage resulting from the "blow" and are duly thankful that no fire started during its prevalence.

Closing Service.—Tomorrow closes the connection existing between the Presbyterian Church and Rev. Mr. Thompson, as people and pastor. In the morning, the sermon will be devoted to a review of the history of the church since the commencement of his pastorate, and in the evening, we presume it will be in the nature of a farewell discourse.

Reapers Manufactured in Janesville.—We suspect that it is not generally known to what extent reapers are being manufactured in this place the present season. Messrs. H. L. Smith & Co. are making three of the Clover pattern, and James Harris one hundred and fifty of the Little Champion. They are both superior machines and each has many warm admirers, as they deserve to have.

Burglary.—The leather store of Wright & Hunt was broken into by burglars last night, who effected an entrance through the headlight over the door. There is also evidence of their having tried to force open the front door with a crow bar or other iron instrument, but in this they were unsuccessful. The safe in the store remained untouched and the scampers left empty handed. As the proprietors are yet aware of the thieves and burglars infest this city whose scalps ought to adorn the liberty pole on the public square.

A Pleasant Time.—Quite a large number of Sir Knights and their ladies went to Beloit yesterday, from this city, to attend a grand ball and banquet given by the Beloit Commandery, No. 6. There was a generous attendance of Sir Knights from this State and from Illinois. A parade in the afternoon, under General Blackburn was participated in by members of the order and elicited much admiration from those who witnessed it.

Before The Footlights.

S. Miller Kent Holds the Record as a Quip Understudy. The star of "Raffles," the Amateur Crackman, which will be the attraction at the Myers Theatre Saturday, Feb. 16, matinee and evening, is S. Miller Kent who besides being recognized as the best young romantic actor in America, incidentally holds the world's record as a quick understudy, which he won during Nat C. Goodwin's engagement in "An American Citizen" at the York of York's Theatre in London a few years ago.

During the performance one Friday night, Goodwin was taken so seriously ill that it was found necessary to send him to a hospital. Before he left the theatre, however, he sent his stage manager, Bud Woodthorpe, in search of Mr. Kent, who happened to be spending his summer vacation over there. Woodthorpe found him at the Hotel Cecil, and carried him to the Duke of York's theatre where Goodwin fell on his neck and besought him to come to his assistance, and get up in the part for the next (Saturday) night's performance.

Kent, although fearful of the result, was finally prevailed upon to make the effort. He took the part to his hotel and worked on it until seven o'clock in the morning, when, utterly worn out, he fell on his bed and slept for two hours. Woodthorpe then called for him and took him to the theatre where he rehearsed with the company until five in the afternoon. By that time Mr. Kent was letter perfect in two acts and had begun to get some idea of the other two. When he returned to the theatre after dinner, however, he had determined not to try and go on. If he failed, he figured that it would injure his reputation. The manager of the house, and all of the actors, who were of course his friends, at length persuaded him to make up for the character, and he went on.

To make a long story short, he went through the first two acts as if he had been playing in the piece all his life, but he was afraid to continue, until the stage manager went before the curtain and made a speech explaining the circumstances and asking the indulgence of the audience for the young actor. When he went on in the third act, Mr. Kent carried his part in his hand, but the audience had by that time begun to admire his pluck and he was applauded as few American actors have ever been in London.

Mr. Kent had saved the day for if he had refused to go on, the run of the play would have been broken and the company, in all probability, would have been disbanded and the actors sent back to America.

On less than eighteen hours' notice, he had gotten up in and played a star part in London. By Monday night he was of course comparatively easy, and he played with much success for the next two weeks.

Mr. Kent has as a souvenir of this incident in his career a very handsome silver cigar safe, presented to him by Mr. Charles Frohman with whom he was under contract at that time.

Good Time Club Held Valentine Party
—Other Social Events—Items of Interest.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, Feb. 15.—The Good Time club were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smith Thursday evening. The parlors were very elaborately and appropriately decorated in honor of St. Valentine's day, the valentines played an important part in the entertainment. The ladies arrived about 3:30 in the afternoon and the gentlemen came, after business hours and as each one arrived he was greeted with a selection by the "orchestra," which was composed of the ladies of the club. The dining room was made beautiful with palms and the centerpiece of the table was a large heart with ribbons, to which a dainty favor was attached, running to each plate. Dinner was served at 6:30. Twenty-two covers were laid. The guests departed at a late hour declaring the name of the club had never proved itself more appropriate.

January Library Report.

Edgerton.
Edgerton, Feb. 16.—The home of Mr. D. L. Willson was the scene of a very pretty entertainment on St. Valentine's night. The house was most appropriately decorated with hearts, hearts being hung on all the curtains and suspended as rope tapestries in the doorways. The ladies of the New Century club were the hostesses and entertained the members of the three sister organizations of the city—The Culture club, Monday club and Marquette club. It had been the privilege of the ladies to secure the Lotus Male quartet of Janesville consisting of Messrs. Taylor, Paris, Cleveland and Van Pool, and assisted by Miss Mina Catter to provide the evening's entertainment.

The following program was presented: In Vocal Combat, Buck-Lotus Quartet; The Star of Love, Buck-Lotus Quartet; Little Billy's First Race, Hood—Miss Cutler; When Thon Art Near, Lohr—Mr. Van Pool; Nellie Gray, West—Lotus Quartet; Who's Afraid, Cooke—Miss Cutler; (a) Sands O'Dee, Clay, (b) Impatience, Schubert—Mr. Taylor; Annie Laurie, Buck—Lotus Quartet; Solo, Selected—Mr. Paris; First Settler's Story, Carlton—Miss Cutler; (a) Still is the Night, Clark, (b) Good Night, Buck-Lotus Quartet. That every mind was by the thoroughly enjoyed was attested by prolonged and hearty applause. It has rarely been the privilege of Edgerton people to listen to a quartet whose voices blended so perfectly or one whose interpretation of the selections was more perfect. Miss Cutler is an artist of rare ability and every selection delighted her hearers. Following the program ice cream, cake and macaroons were served and a general reception lasted till nearly midnight.

INTERNATIONAL TRUST and SAVINGS BANK.

Capital $200,000. CHICAGO, ILL. Surplus $30,000.
STOCK SELLING AT $115 PER SHARE.

This is a new Chicago institution which will begin business on or about April first under the most favorable auspices. Chicago has invested in banks per capita but little more than New York, as much as Los Angeles, about 50 per cent. as much as Philadelphia, but 25 per cent. as much as St. Louis, and but 12 per cent. as much as Pittsburgh, while in deposits she has per capita about 50 per cent. as much as Los Angeles, Philadelphia and St. Louis, and more than 40 per cent. as much as Pittsburgh.

The returns on bank stock, from an investment standpoint, are sufficient to make such offerings alluring. Many of the wealthy and most prosperous men of the country acquired a large share of their wealth through accumulations accruing on the stock of some banks and trust companies.

Not one of the larger institutions has failed to return handsome dividends on their stock each year, and the increase of the book or market values has made the returns as large or larger than could have been obtained on any "safe" investment.

THE INTERNATIONAL TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK will be offered by Business Men and Bankers and will have on its directorate several of the influential and high-grade representatives of Union Labor.

You cannot better place your life funds than by taking some of this stock. It is not too broad a statement to say it will return at least 20 per cent. annually during the next five years.

A limited amount of this stock is on the market at the price quoted above.

Certified checks or New York or Chicago exchange should accompany each subscription and should be made payable to the Organizers of International Trust and Savings Bank, or to Edwin C. Kingsbury & Co., bankers, No. 96 La Salle St., Chicago, Illinois.

The right is reserved to accept all or any part of any subscription made.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; moderate temperature.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The point of view has everything to do with life, and it is so difficult to put ourselves in the other fellow's place, that many of the problems presented are perplexing. The country is passing through an era of what is called in the moral world, a spasm of awakened conscience, and the commotion going on is due to the fact that the different viewpoints of life are confronting each other and contending for supremacy.

Conditions are favorable, for this sort of a contest, for times are so good, that every one is supplied with money, and a comfortable living is secured without worry or anxiety. This affords leisure for investigating other people's business, and this is always a fascinating occupation.

As a result, the railroads, corporations, swollen fortunes, trusts and combines, stand out in bold relief, and fill the public mind and eye, as never before.

While it was safe to assume that corporate corruption existed, to greater or less extent, under the stimulus of agitation, the public pulse has become feverish, and the notion is quite prevalent that corporations today are a mass of corruption, and yet they are managed by the same men who were regarded honest, two years ago.

The men who went down before the blast of public indignation, at the head of our great life insurance companies, were not dishonest men. They were victims of customs and practices connected with the development of a great business, but they were never accused of dishonesty.

When they contributed freely to campaign and other expenses, they were doing what all other corporations were doing, and from their point of view it was just as legitimate as the payroll expense account.

The fault was with the system, rather than with the men, and it will never be effectually remedied until the price of life insurance is reduced to a point where it will not be possible to accumulate a large surplus.

All sentiment aside, it is just as legitimate for a railroad to contribute to money to a campaign, as to the building of a Y. M. C. A. building. The small board of directors represent several thousand stockholders. They are selected because of ability and honesty, and their judgment is seldom questioned.

Every businessman of common sense, of whatever political faith, knows and admits, that had Bryan been elected president, that the country would have been on the verge of bankruptcy before his inauguration. The industries of the nation would have been paralyzed, and the Coxey army would have represented but a handful of the unemployed.

"Any corporation that refused to spend time and money to defeat him, would have been guilty of criminal negligence. The point of view has changed today, and good living with great prosperity has developed a new order of virtue, which is largely sentimental.

The press of the country is regarding the railroads today from a new viewpoint, and many things, with which the public have been familiar, are a revelation. The newspapers have long been furnished with a class of transportation prepared especially for them, and issued to no other class of travelers.

It was paid for in advertising space worth one hundred cents on the dollar, but it left the newspaper man as ignorant of railroad tickets, restrictions, limitations, etc., as a child.

The ruling of the Interstate Commerce commission puts him in the market today as a common buyer, and he commences to ask questions which the public have been asking for many years.

For instance he wants to know why any kind of a railroad ticket isn't good until used, and why it isn't just as good for one man to ride on as another.

He begins to talk about a two-cent flat rate for everybody, and wonders why it wouldn't be a good thing. In conversation with Mr. McCullough, superintendent of transportation of the Chicago & North-Western road, the other day many of these questions were discussed, and the viewpoint of the railroad fully brought out.

On the two-cent fare proposition Mr. McCullough said: "We have a record of every dollar paid us in Wisconsin, for passenger fare last year and it amounts to just a fraction more than two cents a mile.

"I met your tax commission last week and said to them, 'If you want a flat two-cent rate in Wisconsin, and really believe that the state is ready for it, our company won't oppose it, but you must remember that when this is done, it means the end of all excursions and excursion rates.'

"It means that conventions of all kinds, county and state fairs, will be obliged to pay the flat rate, and this is liable to prove a hardship."

This was a new proposition, and may be worth considering by the legislature. The men who travel the most in Wisconsin or any other state, buy an interchangeable 2000-mileage book for $50 and receive a rebate of $9.50 when the cover is returned.

The ticket is good on 20 different roads for the man to whom it is issued, and gives him a two-cent rate. The objection to it is that it favors a class of travelers, the same as the rebate favored the large shippers.

From the railroad viewpoint this seems all right, whether the public will ever so regard it is a matter of doubt. Railroad tickets of all kinds are a cash commodity and the notion is quite popular that one man's cash ought to be as good as another's.

The race problem, which interests all sections of the country, is largely influenced by the point of view. The notion prevails throughout the north that the colored man is needed in the south to raise the cotton, and yet the bulk of that crop is raised today by white labor.

The magazines are advertising large tracts of land for sale in Virginia. A gentleman from that state was asked the other day, why it was, and he said:

"Our large plantations were well cultivated in old times, but the colored man simply won't work on the farm for wages. He goes to the cities, but he won't work in the country, and so our land is idle, and will be until white labor can be found to cultivate it." Then he said, "You people from the north think we need the negro, but we don't."

The same difference of opinion exists concerning the question of education. Booker Washington is more popular in the north, than in the south.

Charity is needed in the discussion of every question. The point of view has everything to do with opinions formed and judgment rendered. It is sometimes difficult to put ourselves in the other fellow's place, but results are always worth the effort.

PRESS COMMENT.

Vaguely Familiar.

La Crosse Leader-Press: A Judge Alton B. Parker of New York says the president was right in dismissing the negro soldiers at Brownsville, Parker? Where has that name been heard before.

To Come Out Of Consumers. Exchange: Reports from various places are to the effect that Mr. Rockefeller has put up the price of oil. The consumers are going to have a chance to pay the grand donations for which Mr. Rockefeller will be pleased to take the credit.

Privileges of the Expert. Chicago News: District Attorney Jerome insists that the experts shall know what they are talking about. That may sound reasonable, but it would spoil their business. If the expert knew what he was talking about, and could prove it, that would make him too much like a common man.

Langlade the Home of Ginseng. Forest Republican: Langlade leads all the counties of the state in the production of ginseng and the growers of that section have petitioned Assemblyman Nelson to secure the passage of a bill providing a penalty for persons stealing the production from the ginseng fields. The root is very valuable and when dried sells for $1 a pound. The growers have been much annoyed by thieves, and ask that a heavy penalty be prescribed.

Salaries of City Engineers. Oshkosh Northwestern: The people of Manitowoc are kicking because the council has cut the salary of the city engineer from $1,500 to $1,200, and declare it is false economy to try and get along with a "cheap" man. Here in Oshkosh the council has just increased the city engineer's salary from $1,000 to $1,200, and still we will have to get along with a cheap man according to the Manitowoc standard.

Spooner No Stand Patter. Racine Journal: Senator Spooner in his tariff statement is in accord with the great majority of the people of his state. He is now as always, a staunch protectionist but believes the true principle of a proper protection.

are proper tariff schedules, and he believes it is about time to make a revision. The position of this senator is the true position taken by the real protectionists who do not believe in a continuation of tariff that many believe over protects in some particulars and is the active conductor of special interests. Senator Spooner is with the people not only as to the ship subsidy but as to the tariff.

Hearst and Becker. Madison Journal: The Milwaukee News learns that William Randolph Hearst, is considering Mayor Becker of Milwaukee as a presidential running mate in 1908. The News manifests a reckless disregard for the reputation and peace of mind of its boy mayor.

A Waiter's Joyous Life. Pittsburg Dispatch: "Why do the young men of America sneer at the waiter's calling?" said the quiet man in the black swallowtail coat. "A waiter can travel all over the world, become modern linguist and can easily earn from $25 to $50 a week, yet the young clerk or salesman with 'eight per' and no future sneers at him. As a waiter I travel wherever I wish. One winter I was in Egypt, the next on the Riviera, the next in Rome. Spring finds me in Paris, and thence I lead the channel in time for the London season. In the autumn I am back in America again with full pockets. I have learned French, German and Italian. I have made friends with many rich, intelligent, amiable people. I have seen the world and earn $2,000 a year. Occasionally while I am serving a meal I am given a good pointer on the stock market. Yet clerks and counter jumpers think they can sneer at me. They had better learn my trade."

Lo Fools the Paleface. New York Tribune: The Clerk of Clark county, in Wisconsin, has been imposed upon by an ingenious bad Indian living near Chippewa Falls. The state pays $20 a pair for wolf ears. The Indian desired money for his water or other purposes, and so procured five pairs of wolf ears, for which the County Clerk gave him an order for $100. But that Indian is to be arrested. The clerk discovered a striking resemblance in the size and color of the ears, and examination revealed that they were all made out of a single wolfskin, ingeniously sewed together, with a piece of cardboard between to maintain the stiffness of the counterfeit ears.

A Drama of Wanton Episodes. Madison Democrat: However, let us contain our souls in patience till the Nesbit nymph has undergone cross-examination. A tale of consummate sensationalism must be unfolded if all the truth is told of nocturnal associations with Stanford White long after the girl had expectantly sought him in his mirrored lair, and of luxurious peripatations over Europe with young Thaw long before selling herself in lawful marriage to that brainsick but moneyed libertine. Here lies a realistic drama of wanton episodes, the like of which neither a Babalanor a Zola ever dared to depict. But will the technical absurdities of the law of evidence which might effectively impede the progress of justice prevent the revelation? Possibly—and if so, what disappointment for the yellows, what a gain for general decency!

State to Pay Part of Cost of Roads—An Emphatically Fair Plan That Every Man Should be Interested In.

There are two things being considered by the state legislature, which concerns every citizen of the state and particularly every farmer in Rock county and concerning which every one should let his local representative know his feelings. One of these is joint resolution No. 223, which aims to amend the constitution to permit the state to aid in building country roads. At present the farmers pay the entire cost of constructing these

"He Had To Acknowledge The Corn."

The other day a dental traveling man was in to see Dr. Richards to sell him some goods.

In visiting together the Doctor showed him some of the beautiful work he is putting out among his patients.

and asked him point blank, "In your visits among other dentists here do you see any such beautifully finished work as I am doing?"

Of course the traveling man hesitated saying much considering the fact that he sold goods to all the dentists in the city.

But he did acknowledge that this work was more finely finished than any he had seen in Janesville.

"Now, the specimens shown him were not special cases but just regular finished work the same as Dr. Richards gives everybody."

You can fairly see your face reflected so fine is the polish he puts on his rubber plates. Now all this means extra work.

Extra care taken to give you the best there is.

And his prices are another attractive feature.

His patients never feel like calling him Dr. Big Fee.

POLITICS STILL STIR WASHINGTON

DURBIN'S REFERENCE TO FAIRBANKS DID NOT PLEASE HIM.

GENERAL NEWS OF CAPITAL

Changes Made in Different Committees to Give New Senators a Place.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—It isn't safe these days to mention the name of one Durbin of Indiana in the presence of Vice President Fairbanks. The disparagement cast by the former governor on the Fairbanks boom a few days ago has raised the choler of every member of the Fairbanks camp. It will be remembered that Mr. Durbin declared his belief that President Roosevelt will be renominated in spite of his announcement that he will not be a candidate again. In the course of his pronouncement, Mr. Durbin took occasion to refer slurringly to Mr. Fairbanks' aspirations. It was not thought in the Fairbanks camp that there was any opposition in Indiana to elongated Hoosier's presidential boom, except that emanating from Senator Beveridge, whose influence is especially formidable. The Fairbanks supporters are consoling themselves by asserting that Mr. Durbin no longer exerts any influence in political affairs and consequently his attitude will have little or no effect in the Vice President's native state.

The heralded farewell dinner in honor of General Charles F. Grosvenor, who retires to private life at the close of the present session after many years of continuous service as representative from Ohio, was held this week. Senators Foraker and Dick were present as guests of the Ohio delegation in the house, who acted as hosts. Each member of the delegation and each guest was presented with a handsome souvenir menu containing on the inside an autographed photograph of General Grosvenor, with a photographic reproduction of the capitol on the outside. General Grosvenor was sped on his way to his hotel by a chorus of cheers and before he entered his carriage he was loaded down with the great bunches of roses that had decorated the banquet table. The aged Ohioan was entering his hotel at midnight when he was met in the rotunda by a party of ladies who were just returning from the theatre. "Why, Congressman Grosvenor," said one of the bevy, "I see you are laboring under quite a load."

"Madam," replied General Grosvenor, "I confess I have just returned from a banquet, but I assure you upon my word of honor that I drank nothing stronger than coffee."

The senate committee is now sitting up at night with the Rivers and Harbors appropriation bill, which was passed unanimously by the house after a debate that lasted ten days. It is altogether probable that the bill will be reported out practically in the same condition in which it was received from the Senate. Senator Dick of Ohio is organizing a combination with a view to forcing appropriations for more Ohio River locks and dams. He is receiving support on the part of senators from Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, but the indications are that the committee will not make any further provision for the Ohio river on the theory that Chairman Burton's appropriations were intelligently and justly made. The greatest good feeling marks the consideration of the bill in the senate committee. The members realize that the country is aroused to the necessity for careful and unbiased distribution of government moneys for this work. The measure is not now regarded as a "pork" bill, but as one that is of vital importance to the commerce of the entire country. It is not unlikely the bill, as it will come over the senate, will provide an increase over the amount appropriated by the house, thus making the bill come closer to meeting the demands of the National Rivers and Harbors congress that $50,000,000 be devoted to the work of waterways development.

Preachers, elderly women, young women, earnest looking young men, men with long locks and spiritual countenances, and women with stern set faces and with white ribbons in the lapels of their jackets, joined in a novel parade this week through the halls and corridors of the capitol. At their head marched a detail of capitol police, and as the bluecoats came within sight of the senate and house cloakrooms, there was a hurried slamming of closet doors, and the cloakroom employees saw to it that no small-sized glasses were in evidence. The parade was the marshalling of the hosts of prohibition, and the march took place through Statuary hall, down the west corridor of the house, through the speaker's lobby, and into the hall of the house of representatives and back along the east corridor to the rotunda, at a time when earnest orators were seeking to convince the district committee of the house that Washington should be "dry." The Webber bill, fostered by Representative Webber of Ohio, provides that the national capital shall be transformed into a desert of Sahara, and that the thirsty visitors must migrate across the Potomac or seek the historic ground of Maryland if they would cool their parched throats with something stronger than water. The prohibitionists have hopes that the bill will pass, but it is altogether unlikely that congress will let it go through even should it be reported favorably from committee.

That the efforts of the Department of Agriculture to insure the cleanliness of packing products have not abated, has just been proved afresh by the interest which officials of the department are taking in the National Packers' Exposition, which will be held in Chicago in May. This exposition will demonstrate just how meat and vegetables are canned and what effect the passage of the pure food bill has had on the packing industry. The government authorities welcome this move on the part of the packers, large and small, to meet public interest. (Continued on page 8.)

PATRICK B. LEAHEY DIED THIS MORNING

Was Aged Pioneer Resident and Retired Business Man—Widow Very Low at Present.

After a two weeks' illness resultant from senile debility Patrick B. Leahy died at his home 151 Center avenue at half past eleven o'clock this morning. The deceased was a native of Ireland and has passed his eighty-seventh milestone. At the time of the civil war's outbreak Mr. Leahy was in business in Memphis, Tenn. His trade was ruined by the conflict, and he came to Janesville, where he had since resided. For many years Mr. Leahy and his wife were proprietors of a candy store here and he was well known among the older residents of the city. Mrs. Leahy, the only surviving relative, has also been ill of late and her condition today is very low. Notice of Mr. Leahy's funeral will be given later.

Jonathan Fitchett
Jonathan Fitchett, who was taken ill with pneumonia on Saturday, Feb. 9, and passed away on the following Friday, was born at Doncaster, Lincolnshire, England, on March 27, 1832. He came to Wisconsin during the years of his early manhood, settling at Darlington. On Dec. 18, 1860, he was married to Miss Martha L. Woods. Mr. and Mrs. Fitchett moved to Janesville in 1894 and secured the home on Miller avenue where they have since resided. Besides the widow, one son—J. T. Fitchett—and a stepson—Dr. F. F. Woods—survive him. Deceased was a member of Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., and Florence Camp No. 366, M. W. A. As an upright Christian man and father, he commanded the respect of all who knew him, and the family is bereft of a good and gentle husband and father. The funeral will be private and will be held Monday morning. Interment will be made at Darlington.

SCIENCE PROGRAM FOR SOCIAL UNION

John Arbuthnot Has Arranged Interesting Agenda For Next Tuesday Evening Meeting.

Various phases of modern science will be discussed at the regular February meeting of the Social Union club, to be held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Tuesday evening. John Arbuthnot, instructor in sciences at the high school, will lead the meeting and has arranged an interesting program. Following are the sub-topics and speakers:

The Refinements of Scientific Measurements.....A. B. West
Forestry, Illustrated with Stereopticon Views.....E. T. Snively
Recent Developments in the Electrical Field.....E. B. Korst
Method of Predicting Weather by the U. S. Weather Bureau, Illustrated.....S. C. Burnham
A Talk on Astronomy, Illustrated.....John Arbuthnot
Special orchestral music will be a feature of this program.

PERSONAL MENTION.

H. D. Schreiter and wife of Darlington were Janesville visitors Friday. James Rooney is seriously sick at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jerome Cunningham, South Bluff street.

H. L. McNamara will go to Indianapolis, Ind., Monday, representing the Wisconsin State Hardware association at the Indiana state meeting.

Harry Qualman and George McKenna of Beloit attended Kehl's dancing school hop here last evening.

Frank Griffin is visiting his sister in Chicago.

Mrs. Sueli Miyamori of Chicago university, who is to have charge of a Japanese entertainment at the Presbyterian church next Monday and Tuesday evenings, arrived in the city yesterday.

John C. Murewek of Brodhead is transacting business here today.

J. J. Tschudy and George H. Milan of Monroe were in the city last evening.

Mr. John Knudson, who has been ailing for some time, went to the Janesville Hospital Monday and was operated upon Tuesday morning by Dr. Nuzum. They report the operation a success and Mr. Knudson was doing nicely at last report.—Brodhead Register.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Rev. Mr. Tippet Speaker: Rev. J. H. Tippet will be the speaker at the Men's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. A quartet will sing and other music has been arranged.

Charged With Assault: A charge of assault and battery preferred by Julius Krueger in municipal court this afternoon. John Balse pleaded "not guilty." The case was adjourned one week. The altercation, ending in fistuffs, occurred in the vicinity of the Hanson Furniture factory several days ago.

Played in Evansville: The Kniff & Hatch orchestra played for a dance given by one of the Evansville clubs last evening.

Prosecution for Trespass: District Attorney J. L. Fisher was in Beloit this morning and commenced actions for trespass against individuals answering to the names of Garrison and Phillips and another character for throwing coal through the windows of the Branigan foundry. The trials were set for Monday.

In Justice Court: In Judge Reeder's court today the action of A. J. Hanauka vs. H. I. Sherwood was settled. The case of D. J. Luby vs. Charles Dunbar was called this morning and was held open this afternoon.

Rockford Couple Wedded: Edward J. Malone and Miss Elisabeth Fay Rowley secured a special permit from Judge Sale this morning and were wedded by Court Commissioner M. P. Richardson early this afternoon. Application for a license to wed has been filed by Berut C. Fossum and Ida Semstad, both of Plymouth.

Society..

There were no more handsome, beautifully gowned, or popular belles at the big Junior Prom in Madison last evening than the ladies of the Janesville delegation. Indeed, had an impartial jury been called upon to make an award to the municipality best represented, it is a certainty that the Bower City would have carried off the palm. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Harris, Mrs. A. P. Burnham, and the Misses Vera and Elisabeth Wilcox, Margaret Jackman, Donald Seals of Birmingham, Ala., and Flora McLean of Chihuahua, Mexico, were guests at the Delta Tau Delta booth. Miss Marcia Jackman, at the Beta Theta Pi booth; and Miss Elisabeth McKee, at the Alpha Delta Phi booth. The gymnasium floor was walled in and carpeted with white and green bunting and numerous ivory and gold pillars with brackets holding huge heliotrope-shaded candles; lent substance to the illusion of a dazzling, magnificent court. Edgar A. Benson's orchestra discoursed the music.

The company of young people who board with Mrs. A. L. Gage on North Bluff street were guests of Miss Martha Lietz at her home on South Main street last evening at an entertainment given in honor of Mrs. Smith of Chicago, who is visiting with her and Morris J. Stern, who has been associated with his brother Jacob Stern in the cigar business and who departs tonight for his old home in Pittsburgh where he will be engaged in the grocery trade. At the game of progressive Pedro Mrs. A. L. Gage won the first prize and Prof. Griffin, the consolation trophy. Tempting refreshments were served and a delightful time was enjoyed by all of the participants.

Mrs. William Bladon and Miss Grace Bladon departed today for Milwaukee where they will spend Sunday with Miss Edna Bladon at Milwaukee Downer College.

Miss Marcia Jackman will leave Madison on Monday for a week's visit in Fond du Lac and will also spend several days in Milwaukee before returning to Janesville.

Mrs. Fred S. Sheldon has returned from Portage where she has been making an extended visit with her parents.

JOHN NORCROSS IS THE NEW PRESIDENT

Former Janesville Resident Heads Chicago's Beloit Alumni Society.

The alumni of Beloit college held their annual banquet and reunion at the Great Northern hotel in Chicago last night. The following officers were chosen:

President—John V. Norcross.
Vice president—C. J. Windsor.
Secretary and treasurer—E. Z. Terry.

Executive committee—John J. Moon, chairman; Lester C. Childs, John C. Burdard, Gerald A. Williams, Walter A. Story.

The speakers of the evening included George L. Collie, acting vice president of Beloit college; Alexander E. Matheson of Janesville, Wis.; Rev. C. H. Mann and Rev. Fred Staff of Grand Rapids. About 200 were present. Mr. Collie spoke on the present needs of the school and the problem of caring for the students who are rapidly increasing in number.

Every Housewife Should Have a Fixed Rule for Washing

The Peosta Way saves the clothes because they need so little rubbing. Peosta releases the dirt in the soaking.

Beach's Peosta Soap is purified in the making. It cannot "eat" or injure the most delicate material.

No boiling is necessary with Peosta—though a little boiling never does harm, and the housewife may keep to the old-time way if she prefers.

The Peosta Carton—5 Bars at 25 cents—affords a neat, convenient way of keeping a supply of soap in the house.

1.—The first step in washing is to soak the material in advance for wash day. There should be bluing, good starch and most important of all,

THAW TRIAL WILL GO AHEAD MONDAY

JUROR BOLTON SENDS WORD HE WILL BE ON HAND.

TALK OF LUNACY INQUIRY

Both Sides Agree Defendant Is Sane Now, So Commission May Not Be Asked for by Jerome.

New York, Feb. 16.—Despite the apprehension felt over the interruption of the trial of Harry K. Thaw, there appears no basis for a doubt that the case will be resumed, as planned, on Monday. Juror Joseph B. Bolton, the death of whose wife necessitated the present recess, has, it was stated Friday night, communicated to Judge Fitzgerald his expectation of being able to take his place in the jury box when the case is called. The funeral service for Mrs. Bolton will be held Saturday.

Thaw, who had been reported as cast down at the possibility of a mistrial, declared himself to be in good health when his wife visited him at the tombs Friday.

All Say Thaw Is Sane Now.

Both District Attorney Jerome and the lawyers for the defense are of the opinion that the trial will be continued Monday. It is not expected now that Mr. Jerome will ask Monday for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the mental condition of Thaw. Mr. Jerome made this point clear Friday on the part of the prosecution, while Lawyer Dan O'Reilly insisted, in behalf of the defense, that Thaw is now of sound mind and that therefore, it would be futile to apply for the appointment of a commission in lunacy. Both sides, it is understood, want to have the case tried out and hope that there will be no further delays.

As the case stands, Thaw is assumed to be of sound mind. None of the experts called by the defense has said that in his opinion Thaw is insane now. Dr. Evans, whose testimony is not complete, testified this week that in his opinion Thaw was of unsound mind when he killed White, and that he was of unsound mind during the first three visits he made to the Tombs, but that Thaw improved thereafter.

All the other experts to be called by the defense will, it is said, testify that Thaw is of sound mind to-day.

Experts for Prosecution.

The alienists to testify for the prosecution will, it is said, insist that, in their opinion, Thaw is not only sane now, but that he was sane the day after he killed Stanford White. The experts for the prosecution are Drs. Flint, MacDonald and Mabon, three of the best recognized alienists in this country. They will, it is understood, testify that they have had no way of determining whether Thaw was sane when he killed Stanford White; that when they saw the prisoner on June 26 and again on June 27, 1906, he refused to submit to an examination, and, although during the trial they have observed him in court, they have not been permitted to converse with him. They would like an opportunity to do so, it is said.

The defense announced Friday their plans for next week. Dr. Wagner and Dr. Evans, the alienists, will be recalled to tell of conversations had with Thaw and which the court has ruled may be admitted. The prisoner's wife will then conclude her story, after which Mrs. William Thaw, the defendant's mother, will be called. For her the ordeal, it is believed, will be made as brief as possible.

Comstock to Testify.

Anthony Comstock, of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, and E. Fellow Jenkins, superintendent and secretary of the Gorry society, have been, it is reported, subpoenaed by the defense.

It was stated Friday night, but not confirmed by counsel that Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton Theological seminary, would be called by the defense as a witness next week. Dr. Patton, it is understood, received one or more letters from Thaw, written from the Tombs after White was killed. During the summer Dr. Patton called on Thaw and the purpose of his visit was not explained.

Congo Regulation Is Adopted.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The senate, in closed legislative session Friday, adopted a resolution extending cordial support to the president in any steps he may deem it wise to take in relation to Congo affairs, so long as his action is not inconsistent with treaty or other international obligations or with the traditional American foreign policy, which forbids participation of the United States in the settlement of political questions entirely European in their scope.

ALLEGED PLOT TO MASSACRE BLACKS

WILLIAM MAPP'S STARTLING STORY OF BROWNSVILLE.

MEN DARED TO COME OUT

Reservation Corral Boss Told the Witness of Plan to Slaughter Negro Soldiers in a Saloon.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Startling testimony concerning alleged plans to massacre colored soldiers at Brownsville, Texas, by men from the town firing over the barracks to stampede the soldiers, and challenges to them to come out of the barracks, was given by negro ex-soldiers Friday at the investigation before the senate committee on military affairs. The most sensational story told was that of William Mapp, who was a member of Company C, Twenty-fifth infantry. He was on the stand when the hearing adjourned for the day.

Mapp was asked if he had ever heard any discussion of the shooting which caused him to suspect any persons of complicity. He replied that at breakfast on the morning following the shooting he had heard Wilbur Voschelle, the reservation corral boss, and a white man who had been in charge of the corral prior to the arrival of a battalion of the Twenty-fifth infantry, discussing the case.

Plan to Massacre Them.

According to Mapp's story, Voschelle said: "Well, it is a good thing it happened as it did. I was out in town last night and the crowd came in front of me—the plan was to catch a lot of you fellows in Allison's saloon and massacre you."

Mapp said that this remark was not addressed to him and that he did not question Voschelle. He said that Allison is the former soldier who had started the saloon for the purpose of getting the negro soldier trade, the other saloons having barred the members of the negro battalion. Voschelle is now in Washington, having been subpoenaed as a witness.

Dared to Come Out.

Before giving this testimony Mapp said that on the night of the shooting he had been awakened by the firing and had gone to the window of his quarters, and from there he saw several gun flashes and the shots seemed to be directed over the barracks. A man with a deep voice, he said, shouted: "Come out, you black —" (using an opprobrious epithet and making it applicable to the troops). Mapp said this challenge was repeated several times during the firing, but the call to arms was then sounded and he hurried to get dressed and fall in with his company. He said the shooting and the shouting were outside the wall at the end of Company B barracks. Mapp told of the confusion in quarters and said that he got his gun from the rack that was broken open and was one of the first to fall in.

Thomas Jefferson, who was the room orderly in Company C barracks, said that he heard the shooting and thought there were ten or 12 men firing. The shots he said came from the rear and near the end of B barracks.

BOY TRAIN-WRECKERS' CONFESS.

Admit Crime in Georgia, Their Object Being Robbery.

Tallahassee, Ga., Feb. 16.—Four boys, led by Carl Davis, the oldest 13 years, have confessed to attempting to wreck a Southern railway train just east of here Tuesday night. An accommodation train from Atlanta ran into an open switch. The engine was demolished and the engineer and fireman badly bruised, but the passengers escaped. The lock had been broken and the switch left open. The boys said their object was to rob the express car.

Woman Leaps to Her Death.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 16.—Miss Nora Baggott, 34 years of age, late Friday leaped from the sixth floor of a local department store where she was employed as a dressmaker, and met instant death on the pavement below. It is claimed the woman grieved over the recent death of her mother.

MR. SHONTS ON RAILWAYS

TELLS OF PREDICAMENT WHICH ROADS FIND THEMSELVES IN.

Hostile Legislation and Demands of Labor May Bring Great Crop of Receiverships.

New York, Feb. 16.—The second annual banquet of the Iowa Society of New York was held at the Waldorf-Astoria Friday night. The society had as its guests Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw and Theodore P. Shonts, chairman of the Panama canal commission.

Secretary Shaw's address dealt chiefly with American industries. Chairman Shonts spoke on the general subject of railroads.

After telling why he doubted the wisdom and fairness of the purpose to limit profits to six per cent. on the capital invested in railways, Mr. Shonts said:

"The attitude of the present national administration on the question of rates has not been to secure their reduction, but to prevent unjust discrimination in them. Railroad rates in the United States are lower than anywhere else in the world, while the service, under normal conditions, is better."

"I do not think that the public is demanding cheaper transportation so much as it is demanding safe, reliable and adequate transportation."

"In the matter of improvements the railroads of the country, almost without exception, have been pursuing a hand-to-mouth policy which has proved costly to themselves and irritating to the public. Costly to themselves because, before improvements necessary to relieve existing conditions have been completed, their capacity has been exceeded by the growth of traffic; irritating to the public because at no time, in recent years has the public been able to get free from the delays and annoyances of a continual state of congestion. The result is the railroads are confronted also with a state of public mind extremely hostile. So that the raising of money to provide facilities so urgently needed is, under present conditions, well-nigh impossible, although many of the corporations have sought to do so at the risk of almost imperiling their credit."

"The situation is a grave one. If the various states continue arbitrarily to reduce rates, as some of them are doing, and the various labor organizations continue to press their demands for increased wages and shorter hours, the next unprecedented crop harvested in this country will be a record-break-

Nerve Sick

If weak, worn-out, nervous, cannot sleep, have indigestion, headache, neuralgia or periodic pains, it is because your nerves are weak. It is the lack of nerve force that makes the stomach, heart, lungs, etc., work imperfectly—become sick. Dr. Miles' Nerve cures the sick when it restores nerve strength, and puts the power behind the organs to do their work.

"Almost three years I suffered from nervousness, indigestion, and palpitation of the heart. I could not eat or sleep with comfort, or walk or talk without suffering. Altogether I was in a bad condition. My doctor did not seem to do me any good. I had tried so many remedies that I did not have much hope of any of them doing me any good. Dr. Miles' Nerve was suggested by a friend. I got relief from the first and after a few days I felt like a new person. It not only relieved my heart and nerves, but has invigorated my whole system. I am very grateful because since I have stopped using it, I have had absolutely no return of my old trouble."

JAPANESE AFFAIR SETTLED.

Oriental School to Close When Immigration Bill Passes.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The San Francisco school controversy, growing out of the segregation of the Japanese school children in that city, has been settled. The basis of the agreement reached at the White House conference Friday is that Mayor Schmitz and the members of the school board will, immediately after the passage of the immigration bill, as reported by the conferees in congress, abolish the oriental schools and again admit Japanese children into the white schools.

The president and Secretary Root gave the San Francisco assurance that if the bill is not passed at this session of congress, an extra session will be called immediately after the adjournment on March 4.

Idaho Senate Favors Passes.

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 16.—The state senate Friday indefinitely postponed action on the anti-pass bill, which passed the house by a big majority. The vote in the senate was 12 to five. The majority party in the legislature was pledged by the Republican state convention to the enactment of a law preventing the issuing of passes to state and county officials.

est and curiosity by demonstrating what their processes are. And the packers realize on their part that by coming out openly in this way they will not only make a vitally interesting exhibit, but also furnish evidence that they are giving the public a "square deal." The nature of the government exhibit has not yet been determined. The exposition is scheduled to last eleven days. It will be held later on in New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Kansas City.

An example of the confusion that results from the enactment by states of laws that conflict with federal legislation governing interstate commerce is seen this week in a telegram received by the Interstate Commerce commission from the Great Northern Railroad company. The railroad company complied with the law in every regard, but now finds that it is being ground between the upper millstone of federal legislation and the lower millstone of state law. The company's telegram was as follows:

"Bills now pending in the legislatures of various states through which the Great Northern operates propose to establish maximum passenger rates of two cents, in which event this company will not wish to continue the low rates provided in tariffs now on file with the commission."

"This condition of affairs is a source of much uneasiness to the administration. The effects of this clash of laws on all forms of business is bound to be deleterious. Efforts are being made to convince the American people that the control of corporations can far better be exercised by a comprehensive federal law than by individual and necessarily conflicting laws by dozens of states. The corporation as a business institution now does not confine its activities to any one section of the Union, but traffic is so intricate and covers such a wide territory that divergent laws framed to govern it must result in checking its flow and in other ways retarding the free exchange of commodities."

Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan this week took formal charge as chairman of the committee on the examination and disposition of useless senate documents, and at the same time Senator Beveridge was appointed a member of the committee. Among the committee changes, one is of especial interest. Senator Curtis, recently elected senator from Kansas, was given a place on the committee on Indian affairs from which his colleague, Senator Long, accommodately resigned in order to make the place. Senator Curtis probably knows more of the American Indian than any other member of congress. He is a full member of the Kaw tribe himself, and his understanding of Indian needs is the result of first-hand information.

Drop a tear for the death of the Anti-trust club. This organization fostered by certain members of congress, a few army men and a number of Washington's prominent business men, sprang into existence on January 1st, when the order of the day was the framing of good resolutions. The birthplace of the club was the Homestead hotel at Hot Springs, Va., where the organizers were gathered together to fortify themselves with the mineral baths in readiness for the simple life they were resolved to lead during the year 1907. These charter members solemnly agreed not to treat or accept a treat of any intoxicating liquor in any public bar in the District of Columbia, and the penalty for each violation was to be $10 which was to go to charity. Alas, for human frailty the club now is only a memory, and the enthusiasts are willing even to forget that.

Judge Advocate General Davis has been called upon by Secretary Taft for a judicial determination of the power of the secretary of war in considering the application of the sanitary board of Chicago for permission to divert the waters of Lake Michigan into the Calumet river. The sanitary board desires that the lake water be introduced into the river in sufficient quantities to cause that stream to run backward into the drainage canal and so into the Mississippi. General MacKenzie, chief of engineers, has reported that this would lower the level of the Great Lakes, questioning the secretary's right to issue the required order.

C. Cook & Co.; this is also guaranteed. Not a cheap or inferior article in the entire stock. Sale will continue until the goods are disposed of and upon request any article will be put up for sale. There are some items which have been exhausted but there are plenty yet to make your attendance worth your while.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO LADIES--Each day we offer articles of especial interest to the ladies and we particularly invite them to attend the afternoon sales. Come early and secure your share of these rare offerings. MONDAY AFTERNOON WILL BE STERLING SILVER DAY FOR THE LADIES. Those ladies who have been collecting sterling silver, especially those patterns in Orange Blossom and Bridal Rose, can add to their holdings at Monday's sale, as every piece of these goods in the stock will be put up for sale. A special request is made of the men to give the ladies full opportunity to be present and to allow them plenty of room in the store during Monday afternoon.
